

About Us

Welcome!

The purpose of the Internet Technology Guide (iTechGuide) web site is to serve as a place for the free exchange of ideas, perspectives, and information to enable you to put the technologies of the Internet to work for you. Our methods are based on the application of decades of Internet training and experience to identify, analyze, and recommend solutions for the problems faced every day by people trying to use the Internet for business and personal reasons.

Everyone involved in the development of the iTechGuide brings a passion for promoting the best application of Internet technologies. We constantly survey the marketplace for innovative technology solutions and continuously strive to improve our delivery of information in a manner that best serves the needs of the users of this web site. The iTechGuide also provides technology product and service reviews as an advocate for the advancement of sciences, economic growth, and prosperity.

We welcome your feedback and solicit your suggestions for how this site can better serve you. Please use the Contact Us link at the top right of the screen.

Sincerely,
The iTechGuide Staff
